NINETY-FOUR

COUNTIES IN STATE ARE DRY.

Temperance Forces Have Increased Their Holdings In Kentucky In Remarkable Manner.

The drouth in Kentucky continues to spread, and there are now ninety-four "dry" counties out of the total of 119.

Two months ago there were eighty-two "dry" counties, but since then many precinct and county elections have been held to vote whether liquor should be sold or not. In these, twelve counties have gone "dry," and the only victory gained by the "wets" was to carry the town of Cloverport, in Breckinridge county.

The remarkable spread of temperance in the Bourbon Commonwealth, the home and stronghold of Kentucky whiskey, has been more strikingly evidenced in the past two weeks than ever before. To that time eight counties went "dry"—Bullard, Logan, Puhasky, Lewis, Pendleton, Greenup, Whitley and Todd.

The "drys" met with one disappointment. Middleborough, the county seat of Bell, is the only "wet" spot in the Eleventh Congressional district. This district includes the mountain counties of Eastern Kentucky, where the "moonshine" is supposed to trickle in a continuous stream. An election was held at Middleborough and the "drys" put for all their strength to carry the last citadel of Demon Rum in the Eleventh. They failed by a small margin.

There isn't a county in Kentucky that is totally "wet."

There are only four counties that are approximately saturated. These are Maude, Jefferson, Kenton and Campbell, all along the Ohio river in the northern part of the State. Todd county, on the southern border, was "wet," but the "drys" captured it in their recent raid.

Contract Let For Redrying Tobacco:

The Board of Control of the Society of Equity held an enthusiastic meeting at the court house at Nicholasville Wednesday afternoon. The object of the meeting was to let the contract for re-drying and re-aging the tobacco. After considerable discussion, the contract was finally let to A. Farris, one of the most prominent tobacco men in this country, located in Lexington for a while at $1.25 per hundred.

Farmers wishing to recover losses for sheep killed or crippled by dogs must have the sheep appraised and file their claims with the County Judge within twenty-four hours after the sheep have been killed or crippled. Remember this fact, farmers, for this is the law.

MRS. YOUNG

DIES OF INFIRMITIES OF OLD AGE

Widow of Former Appellate Judge Succumbs After Illness of Several Months.

Mrs. M. R. Young, wife of Judge Van B. Young, died at the home of Mrs. W. R. Money, 202 West Maxwell street, Lexington, at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning of a complication of diseases, incident to old age. She had been a great sufferer, and was seriously ill for 4 or 5 months. She leaves one son, Shodhard J. Young, of Lexington; four brothers and three sisters as follows: Ben D. Bell, of Lexington; George B. Bell, of Paris; David Bell, of Nicholasville, and Jas. Bell, Versailles; Mrs. Lotta P. Lagan, Shelbyville; Mrs. E. Sparks, Nicholasville, and Mrs. James N. Prather, Franklin, Tenn. The funeral services took place at the home Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. After the services the remains were taken to Frankfort and buried at the side of her husband.

Mrs. Young was a daughter of the late Dr. David Bell, Lexington, who was a very prominent physician. She was about 65 years old, and was married about 45 years ago to Judge Van B. Young, who was judge of the Court of Appeals for many years, and who died while Chief Justice February 27, 1892, just one day less than 15 years before his wife. They lived in this city and Owsingville for many years, until Judge Young was elected to the Appellate Bench, when they removed to Frankfort, remaining there until Mr. Young's death. After his death his widow and son returned to Mt. Sterling, remaining there until they moved to Lexington about 12 years ago. Mrs. Young was widely known over the State, and her many friends will be grieved to learn of her death.

Death Would Have Damaged Him.

That spirit of thrift popularly supposed to pervade New England is amusingly illustrated by the observation of a Connecticut farmer. The 60-1 man had been seriously ill in midsummer, but by reason of his strong constitution he quickly rallied. On being asked in the Autumn how he was feeling he replied in a cheerful tone:

"Pretty fair, now, thanks. Anyway, it don't make much difference, sevin' that the farm's well fixed up. If I'd died in hayin' or harvestin' time, I calculate it'd have been 500 damage to me." Then, after a pause, he added:

"Come to think of it, that's too low a figure—$65 would be nearer."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Representative Clarke recommends President Roosevelt as manager of the Panama Canal work after he leaves the White House. It will be admitted that a "big stick" or a fountain pen would throw about as much dirt as those steam shovels.

LUNACY

IS INCREASED BY ABSINTHE IN

France, and Legislators Start a Movement to Prohibit the Sale of the "Pisen."

The rapidly increasing consumption of alcohol in France is attracting the serious attention of statesmen, who, following the example of Belgian and Swiss legislators, are devoting earnest efforts to restrict the spread of the evil.

In both chambers important groups have been formed, whose members are endeavoring to secure the enforcement of existing enactments and the promotion of fresh legislation with the view of limiting the number of saloons, of strengthening the hands of the authorities so as to improve their supervision, and eventually forbid the sale of absinthe as being the most deleterious of alcoholic liquors.

It is agreed that the enormous augmentation in the percentage of lunatics among the population of recent years, is for the most part due to drink, and that the habit is, besides, having a general deteriorating effect on the nation.

The Senators taking part in the agitation have obtained an assurance that the Cabinet will strongly support the movement.

No Gambling at Race Tracks.

War on race tracks has invaded California. The passage by the Lower House of the Legislature of a bill to this end, by a vote of forty-four to thirty has occurred. Owners of race tracks at Chicago announce that breeders and turfmen generally, need entertain no hope that racing will be held in Illinois this spring, as States Attorney Healy has declared that as long as he is in office he will enforce to the letter the State's Anti-Race Track Gambling Laws. Mr. Healy's term will expire until '08.

Lexington & Eastern.

The Lexington & Eastern Railway Company have secured the right-of-way for the proposed extension of their road in Breathitt county. The greater part of the right-of-way was obtained without court proceedings. However, C. J. Noble refused the offer of the company, and condemnation proceedings were brought in the county court last week which resulted in the railway company securing the right-of-way at the figures they had offered Mr. Noble.

How Many Heads Had Pearl?

Pearl Bryan's head has been found again. This time it is said to have been uncovered at Fort Thomas, where it was buried by Jackson and Walling 11 years ago, to hide their crime. Every time a skull has been dug up in that vicinity since the murder, it is said to be that of Pearl Bryan. More than a dozen of her heads have been found up to the present time.

Editor Looks Like the President.

Because of the resemblance each bears to the other, President Roosevelt has sent his photograph to L. William Hones, editor of the Roscoe New York Review.

"With hearty good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. L. William Hones, including the Teddy bear," is written by the President on the photograph. Mr. Hones received a photograph from Vice-President Fairbanks, inscribed: "I want my running mate to have this."

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is wondering why men do not go to church. They have to hustle the money that your papa grabs as dividends, Johnnie.

HOUSE CLEANING

BY NEW DUSTLESS METHOD.

Charles A. Scott and George H. Whitney Establish the Business.

The new and dustless method of compressed air house cleaning has been inaugurated in Lexington by Chas. A. Scott and George H. Whitney, formerly of this city, who have purchased out of the Thurman Compressed Air Cleaning machines from the factory in St. Louis. There was a public demonstration at the Elks Club wherein three hundred yards of carpet was cleaned in less than four hours, taking out actual dirt to the amount of about five gallons.

The machine is portable, enabling the operators to carry it to a home and extract the dirt from the carpet and rooms without the removal of any article. They also clean pictures, bric-a-brac, draperies, walls and ceilings, Oriental rugs, without the least damage.

HANLETT,

Of Hopkinsville, is Appointed Examiner.

Superintendent of Public Instruction J. H. Fugate, has announced that he has appointed Prof. Barksdale Hanlett, Superintendent of Schools of Hopkinsville, as a member of the State Board of Examiners. Prof. Hanlett takes the place made vacant by the resignation of Prof. M. O. Winfrey.

Superintendent Fugate is now sending out census blanks to all the superintendents of the State for returns of the school population to date.

Mind Your Own Business.

An exchange says there are two reasons why some people don't mind their own business. One is that they haven't any mind, and the other is they haven't any "biz."

Woman Sentenced to Five Years in the Penitentiary.

Miss Ellen Puckett, formerly an employee in the Agricultural Department at Washington, who entered a plea of guilty to the charge of forgery, was sentenced by Justice Beards to serve five years in the penitentiary. Miss Puckett is charged with obtaining money by forging mortgages on property which she did not own.

A hard character is always a weak one.

LEXINGTON SENATOR

WILL BE APPOINTED.

Col. J. Embury Allen, Col. Guy H. Briggs and Major Deunhardt to Codify State Guard Laws.

Semi-official announcement is made that the Governor will name Col. J. Embury Allen, of Lexington; Col. Guy H. Briggs, of Frankfort, and Major Deunhardt, of Bowling Green, as the commission to revise and codify the State Guard laws. The appointment of such a commission was requested by the Kentucky State Guard Association at its recent meeting. All three of the members are known to be lawyers of ability. They will draw up a complete new set of State Guard laws, which will be presented to the next Legislature for enactment.

No Extra Session.

The President has written a letter in reply to the Massachusetts tariff revision memorial, which gives the very definite impression that Mr. Roosevelt refuses to call an extra session of Congress at this time for the purpose of tariff discussion.

That has been the expectation from the beginning, and few revisionists will be really disappointed in it. Why should they be? An extra session would simply have meant their defeat, for, of course, no sane man believes that revision would have a ghost of a chance with the majority of Congressmen at present.

The failure, after all this fuss and feathers of an extra session, would appear doubly disastrous and work actually hurt instead of help the cause. The movement is going well, it is growing enormous in many States, and soon the sentiment for it will make itself felt elsewhere. The revisionists will be all the stronger by waiting until the next regular session.

United States Treasury.

The adoption of the recommendations of the committee appointed some time ago by Secretary Shaw to investigate the business methods of the Department, means that after the first of next July there will be one general system of double entry book-keeping for all the bureaus, instead of various and individual methods now in vogue in the different branches of the Treasury.

Captain Tolson says that Japan could whip the United States. So could Spain—before the fight began.

Convalescents

NEED VINOL

for it hastens recovery by creating strength

There is just one thing the mother with a person who has been sick, that is, weakness.

To all such people in this vicinity we recommend our delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol, as the very best strength creator for convalescents.

Vinol strengthens the digestive organs, creates an appetite, promotes sound sleep, makes rich, red blood, and build up a depleted system to health and vigor.

This is because Vinol contains all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil with the useless oil eliminated and tonic iron added. We guarantee it. Wm. S. Lloyd, druggist.

To Break Up Poolrooms.

At Springfield, Ill., Representative Tan, of Chicago, introduced a bill carrying heavy penalties for running poolrooms, bookmaking, or conducting any betting operations, on the results or trials of speed or skill of man or beast. The bill not only applies to pool rooms on land, but includes boats, and is aimed at the City of Traverse, the steamboat conducted by the gambling syndicate of Chicago and running out of that port. The bill forbids the writing, printing, publishing, or circulating or selling or giving away of any information concerning betting or odds on such contests.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy, they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when indolently some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with the kidneys.

Nelson Davis, who lives on Leder Avenue, Richmond, Ky., and is a photographer by occupation, says: "Donn's Kidney Pills brought relief to me when all else had failed, and I had begun to fear that there was no cure for me. I was in a state of almost hopelessness when I got my first box. The workings of Donn's Kidney Pills are marvellous. They worked a quick and lasting benefit in my case."

Plenty more proof like this from Mt. Sterling people. Call at F. C. Duerson's drug store and ask what customers report.

Remember the name—Donn's—and take no other.

FOR RENT.

This is the cry. Real Estate agents are besieged for rent property, the buildings most desired being cottages. Money put in such buildings would, we are informed, bring good interest. The man or firm who would thus invest could rent for a period of years in advance.

THE RIGHT MAN.

A. D. Miller, editor of the Richmond Clinician, is the right man to represent Madison county in the next Legislature. A man of public spirit, a clean man with ability and courage of his conviction would be worth much to Kentucky at this time, and we hope the good people of Madison county will elect Mr. Miller.

BE CAUTION!

All indications point to an unusual tobacco average for 1907. A Bourbon man said: "A guarantee of present prices, and I would put in 500 acres." There is such a thing as the supply becoming so great that the prices would be reduced to a point below cost of production. In the event of an enormous crop, no organization could prevent the reduction in prices.

CITY STATEMENT—A COMPARISON.

With this issue we conclude the comparison of City Statements. The people who pay the taxes and who are anxious to know how their money was expended in 1906 as compared with 1905 will be prepared to decide which officials have rendered the best service.

The statement for 1906 is a good showing as is also that of 1905.

An examination of the expenditures for the year 1906 shows that in addition to the amounts paid for damage suits and taking care of small-pox, quite a sum was expended by way of permanent improvements for the fire and street cleaning departments and in addition to this a good bridge was built over Hinkston Creek for the benefit of Tenney Hill. During the year 1906 comparatively little was expended by way of permanent improvements and very little for fires and nothing for contagious diseases. Eliminating these items from the statements, it will appear that the running expenses for the years 1905 and 1906 are practically the same and the saving, if any, as stated in 1906 statement has been by reason of the fact that no permanent improvements were made, practically no fires and no small-pox.

Growing out of this comparison we shall refer to proposed retrenchments, giving some thoughts on same, as well as what the council propose for the future.

We trust what we shall say shall bring all citizens closer together that we may realize our needs, our ability to bring things to pass and to get at it, all pulling at the same end of the chain.

WOULD IT PAY?

Frequently we hear this remark: "Nothing short of a gold mine would compare with a saloon here now during a tide." That's true, a dozen saloons would flourish for a few days during a tide. During a "raft tide" from two to five hundred men from the upper counties are landed here, and a more genuinely, powerful class of men would be difficult to find. But turn that many Kentucky mountain men loose where they can get at an unlimited quantity of liquor and see how your peace and dignity will fare. If open saloons existed here now the consequences would certainly be a lot more for the old town on the occasion of a "raft tide."—Estill Herald.

The editor knows an open saloon would pay the saloon keeper. He also knows the whisky would would cause a black page on the fair records of Irvine, that the women and children dependent on the matrons would suffer while the saloonist would wear diamonds.

OUR PEOPLE DETERMINED.

The determination manifested by the best people on last Saturday evening when it was learned an attempt had been made by a negro to detain Miss Mary Prewitt is unmistakable evidence that any man, be he white or black, will not be permitted to assault our women and then live.

LAWYER-DEMOCRAT.

Earl W. Seaff, of New York, but an old Kentucky politician, was here yesterday slinking ladies with his many friends. —Ky. State Journal.

NOT THE WORST.

Facts and Observations gives his Sunday experience "Down South," relative to the open saloon and also the open church buildings. From it we must conclude Mt. Sterling is not the most immoral place on earth, for while our people do not all attend church, we do believe the various places of worship are known by name to the greater number of grown people in Mt. Sterling.

And as to the open saloon, front or back, that is a thing of the past.

The log tides have taken more logs to the market this season than for years. The prices are better, hence the enormous amount of money being circulated through our mountain towns, the good results of which have gone farther than Mt. Sterling. This money will be expended in merchandise, in homes in the mountains, stock to be improved and brought to the Mt. Sterling court-day market and some will come down to the blue grass section and invest in farm lands while others will come to our city and invest in homes.

Attempted Assault.

Phil Batts, a negro, who had been employed at Mr. H. K. Prewitt's as a house-servant and who had been with him for several years, on Saturday entered the bedroom of Miss Mary, Mr. Prewitt's thirteen-year-old daughter and attempted to detain her. Miss Prewitt's screams frightened the negro and he ran away. When it became known that the negro had attempted criminal assault, the men from the city and country congregated and it was at once decided that the negro must die. Men were determined, but Mr. Prewitt assured the through his daughter was not hurt. His pleading that the law be permitted to take its course prevailed. The negro, by order from County Judge A. A. Hazelrigg, was spirited away to Paris in charge of Deputy Sheriff Crooks & Richardson.

Fire.

Friday morning at 12:30 Howard Anderson was returning from down town to his home on Winn street and discovered it on fire. Indications are that it was the result of an incendiary and had been set on fire in two places. Clothing and furniture were almost a total loss. Insurance with Nesbitt and Watson for $500. The building is the property of Mrs. J. C. Griggs and was insured for $1,000, which amount may be sufficient to put house in repair. This is the third fire Mr. Anderson has endured and each time on Winn street. He is in hard luck and it appears some one has it in for him. It would not, in our opinion, be a bad idea to have the Fire Marshall come here, make a diligent search and close examination to see if he may get a trace leading to the cause of the several fires, and if arson has been perpetrated to bring the incendiary to answer for the crime. The fire company responded promptly and did efficient work, saving the building from total loss.

HOUSE BUILT BY BLIND MEN.

Worked on Pitch Dark Nights as Well as by Daylight.

Two totally blind men have built a house for themselves at Berkeley, Cal., doing all the carpenter work themselves without any assistance whatever.

It is a coincidence that both these men are named Joseph—Joseph Brown and Joseph Martinez. The house, according to Popular Mechanics, is of the popular bungalow type, one and a half stories high and constructed entirely of wood. It is 18 feet wide by 25 feet long.

As the builders are sightless the work necessarily progressed slowly. From early morning until frequently long after sunset the two men toiled patiently at their task. The shades of night did not hinder the work, for moonlight and midnight are equally dark to them and out of the blackness came the song of the saw and the blows of the hammer to passersby, who heard but saw no workmen.

From day to day the work has been curiously watched by crowds, including many carpenters. The general work is pronounced as good as that performed by many builders who are blessed with perfect eyesight.

Brown and Martinez were not blind from their birth, but were deprived of their sight many years ago. They were door to door peddlers for many years and managed in the course of time to accumulate some sums of money that were wisely deposited in bank. At the time of the great fire in San Francisco these men had everything save their little bank accounts.

Recently they pooled their holdings, purchased a small lot in Berkeley and some lumber. They then set to work resolutely and have built themselves a house.

VERMONT'S QUARRIES.

Out of the massive marble hills of Vermont has been wrought by labor and skill, a part of the nation's wealth. Some years ago, it was a common statement that as much a one had been lost in the marble business as had been made in it, but this is no longer the case; for, although the testing and developing of a quarry is a heavy expense, the business is now on a stable basis. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been sunk in efforts to obtain a marble quarry, and the chief expense is still labor. A quarry differs from a gold mine in that, however good the product may be, it rarely offers an opportunity to produce stone on a paying basis and on a relatively small margin of profit. In some quarries a royalty of five cents per cubic foot is paid to the owner of the land for the merchantable marble that is taken away. National Magazine.

NO RULES FOR SUCCESS.

There is no such thing as a single, particular proposition in business, says a writer in Everybody's. No doubt this was always true in a measure; but it becomes more exclusively, more vitally, true every day with the increasing coordination of business. The whole business web knits ever closer, and each particular concern is bound more tightly in it. What other people do reacts more quickly than formerly upon your own affairs. A moral blast sounded in Buenos Ayres threw some very powerful Boston gentlemen out of Union Pacific. Steelhead in Kansas banks got better dividends because some blue-jean grand dukes wanted war with Japan. The peculiar operations of the dental brain cells made wheat higher. Who will pretend that he can reason out what a grand duke is going to do?

IN THE FAR FUTURE.

A male professor of physical culture has been telling how women should dress in order to secure perfect freedom in limbs and lungs, which is the secret of health. She should never be conscious that she has any clothes on, he says, and he condemns all garments, under or outer, which may be described as two-piece. In short, he says in plain terms that women should not wear more than two—certainly not more than three—garments, each of which should be in one piece. It can scarcely be imagined what the effect of toilettes made after this fashion would be, but it is hardly to be expected that there will be a movement in favor of the such costume.

Fireman and Police Raid a Saloon.

At Springfield, O., with 5,000 persons looking on, the police, with the aid of the fire department, raided a saloon, and with ladders scaled the walls of a five-story building and rounded up thirty-one men who had taken refuge on the roof.

The Board of Public Stupidity seems to get in a little worse every time it does anything.

Cards Barred From Mail.

The injuries sustained by many postal employees while handling mail, in which post cards, ornamented with glass, mica, and so-called diamond dust, form a part, have resulted in the promulgation of an order prohibiting such cards from admission to the mails unless enclosed in envelopes.

The glassy particles used in the ornamentation of the pictures on the cards rub off easily and cut into the hands of the mail handlers like little knives and create sores that are hard to cure.

Reports have been received from several Post-office divisions where postal clerks have had their eyesight injured by the dust from these cards, and a general entry has gone up against their admission to the mails unless contained in envelopes.

Curiosities of the Bible.

The Bible contains 3,566,480 letters, 773,746 words, 31,173 verses, 1,189 chapters and sixty-six books. The word "and" occurs 46,277 times. The word "Lord" occurs 1,835 times. The word "Reverend" occurs but once, which is in the ninth verse of the 11th Psalm. The middle verse is the eighth verse of the 118th Psalm. The twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra contains all the letters of the alphabet except the letter J. The longest verse is the ninth verse of the eighth chapter of Esther. The shortest verse is the thirty-fifth verse of the eleventh chapter of St. John. There are no words or names of more than six syllables.

SAW CENTURY OF SOCIETY.

Belle of Long Ago Recently Died at Philadelphia.

Not in years has death claimed so remarkable a centenarian as Miss Adeline Thomson, a belle of long ago, who has just passed away in Philadelphia. Miss Thomson was born when Jefferson was president, and she lived to be 103. Punctilious in social conventions to the end—still wearing full evening dress at dinner—she was a picturesque figure from a society which gave tone to American manners long before the day of that "proud old rascal," as Mr. Dooley says, "which has ruled the wretched fashion since 'b' reveal it th' Sherman act." She was an antique portrait such as Boston, Baltimore and Charleston may still occasionally show, removed from its familiar background of "chippendale and chintz—a modern survival in an age of champagne and froth. What a career it was, begun with a girlhood passed under the Dolly Madison traditions and lasting through Nellie Grant to the latest bride at the White House! To have spanned a century of American society while maintaining an alert interest in it to the last was a rare distinction. What a story of fashion's vagaries the old dresses and trunks in her home could tell, from the clinging empire draperies through the voluminous crimline and the chignon to the sober tailored skirt! Though a good American, the sister of a senator and a rear admiral, Miss Thomson swore allegiance to Victoria and Eugene, in turn and to the princess who succeeds them as ruler of the world of modes. She danced with beau resplendent in ruffled shirts and satin "smalls," and again with fastidious gentlemen arrayed in blue swallow tails and white waistcoats, and in her later years with partners in conventional black. Yet she remained heart whole and unweary. But what an aunt she must have been to three generations of debutantes!

THE JUDGE UNDERSTOOD.

The late Judge Pettengill of the Malheur (Mass.) district court counsel under an apparently stern exterior a kind heart, and nothing touched him so quickly as an unintentional witticism, especially if it were at the expense of the court.

One day a prisoner arraigned before him for drunkenness, and still under the influence of liquor, pleaded as hard as he could to be placed on probation.

"Why should I place you on probation?" said the judge, sternly.

"Why, you're drunk now."

"No, I'm not, your honor," said the poor prisoner, earnestly; "I'm as sober as a judge."

He was placed on probation.

BUTTONED UP HIS DOG.

It is always a good plan to take some old-blankets for the dogs on a winter camping trip, says a writer in the Travel Magazine. Most of them will allow you to cover them up, and it is much pleasanter to find them sleeping comfortably by your feet than to know that they are shivering with the cold which cuts through their short hair like a knife.

Every night for a week once I buttoned one of the best dogs that I ever hunted with into my coat, and after wisely watching the operation, he would tuck his nose contentedly inside and lie away to the land of dreams, where rabbits are thicker and hunters better shots.

ENJOYS THE HOB.

Dr. Calot, at one time connected with the surgical staff of the Massachusetts General hospital, always had a ready fund of wit to use in cases of emergency.

Several years ago a brakeman was brought into the hospital by a bad condition, the result of an accident on the railroad. After a day or two it was decided to amputate one of the man's legs at the knee.

"Well," said the patient, with resignation, "I suppose I can't take in the dance any more."

"Hardly," replied the doctor, "but what's to prevent you enjoying the hops?"

LESSER OF TWO EVILS.

"Yes; I gave him his choice—getting whipped or going to hear your lecture."

This man bought a supply of tobacco without acquainting himself with the distinctive taste of SCHNAPPS Tobacco, which has the cheering qualities that gratify his desire to chew, and at less expense than cheap tobacco.

SCHNAPPS has been advertised in this paper so that every chewer has had an opportunity to get acquainted with the facts and know that drugs are not used to produce the cheering quality found in the famous Piedmont country fire-cured tobaccos, and that SCHNAPPS is what he ought to chew. Still there are chewers who accept other and cheaper tobaccos that do not give the same pleasure.

Some day they'll get a taste of the real Schnapps—they'll realize what enjoyment they've missed by not getting SCHNAPPS long ago—then they'll feel like kicking themselves.

SCHNAPPS is sold everywhere in 5 cent cuts, and 10 and 15 cent plugs. Be sure you get the genuine.

MISUNDERSTOOD SITUATION.

Shortsighted Parson (to badly humpered gaffer who has lost his temper)—"Hush! my good man, hush! I know that stone breaking is a trying and arduous occupation, but surely it doesn't justify you in using that dreadful language!"

RETURN OF THE BUGLE.

Once upon a time the very sound of the word bugle, as applied to matters of dress, was looked upon as the personification of all that was dandy and impenetrable. Even the mere man who wrote novels always represented the most down-to-earth of capitalists or millionaire long-hair keepers as wearing black bouffants with bugle trimming, or shabby silk moustache upon which a few bugles still survived to tell the tale of departed grandeur.

And now, by a strange turn of fashion's wheel, bugles have actually come back to favor, and we find them in clear crystal, in silver and gold and in various colors, cunning themselves in the smiles of the most important countries, and preparing even to play a prominent part on the evening frocks of the immediate future and the court gowns of the coming season.

ILLUSTRIOUS SHOEMAKERS.

Germany's now famous captain of Kopenick comes of a calling which has given the world some very great men. One authority asserts that the majority of soldiers have exceptional aptitudes, and their attitude when standing over their work tends to a grand development in the part where the intellectual faculties are seated. Some one has written a book on illustrious shoemakers. In it are Sir Charles Shovel, Clifford the Torrible, Bloomfield, the father of the well-known "Farmer's Boy" Game, the ornamental Admiral Mying, George Fox, founder of the Society of Friends, J. A. Kirtle, the Biblical scholar; Stargoon, the electrician. The list of illustrious shoemakers runs into scores.

ILL-MANAGED CALENDAR.

"To the modern world a 'calendar' is merely a harmless necessary reminder of weeks and days, to be hung up on New Year's day, and consulted in dating letters throughout the year. It has no such significant sound as 'ghoularinn' had for the ancient Romans. The original 'calendar' of their times was the money lender's account book, so called because interest was due from the debtor on the calendar, or first day of each month. Seneca speaks of 'calendar' as a word invented outside the course of nature on account of human greed."

WOULDN'T IT!

Those men over there (to escort)—"These men over there are all brilliant writers. Wouldn't it be a treat just to hear their conversation?"

One of the Brilliant Writers—Gus, do you remember those snuggles we had in Berlin? Talk about 'em in this country!—Puck.

THE RETORT BITTER.

"Why, how do you do?" said the barber to his old-time customer. "Howdy," stammered the latter. "You're a stranger. I haven't seen your face for a long time." "That's odd. I left most of it on your razor the last time I was at your shop."

A SWISHING ERROR.

"In my scrapbook," said Clyde Fitch, the famous playwright, "I have many examples of typographical errors. 'Of all these errors, I like best one wherein a few given in a society woman in '97 was called a 'swill fair.'"

FACTS AND OBSERVATIONS

Lavish Bestowments of Wealth. Contrasted With Desolation.

POMP AND SPLENDOR

On Friday morning, February 22, the writer, accompanying his father, left home for the more genial climate of Florida, and other attractions animate and inanimate. Our readers will recall the piercing and severe winds with such variations of climate in rapid succession. At Lexington we took the 10:35 A. M. express for Jacksonville. For those who wish to know expenses of trip for fare will say: The round trip from Mt. Sterling to Jacksonville, good till May 31, is $31.85. A sleeper berth large enough for two costs $5.50 extra. South of Lexington we encountered snow which increased till we crossed the mountains into Tennessee. Our own bluegrass is a country highly favored of God, worthy of the devotion and admiration of our or other people.

We reached Chattanooga after dark. A moon said there was plenty of ice that day. Darkness surrounded us as we passed Atlanta and Macon, Ga., and until we reached Eastman 200 miles from Chattanooga and nearly that far beyond Georgia line. We do not know what is in North Georgia. We were surprised at the desolation of South Georgia and North Florida. We do not recall having seen a farm house which indicated that its owner was financially in good condition. Poverty, desolation, sterility was everywhere except that in the villages there was a slight improvement, and in a few towns there was evidence of public spirit and thrift. Razor-back hogs, knotty-head, long horn cattle (evidently related to Perry county, Ky.), scrub mules, misbegotten shacks, devastated pine forests, sand banks for scores of miles betokened the general condition of the country. For agricultural and stock-raising purposes the outlook was discouraging.

The distance from Mt. Sterling to Jacksonville is 303 miles. We arrived at 12:30. We were to leave at 1:30. After seeing the park hotels and business center, the writer had his first automobile ride. Tourists, automobiles are used by pleasure seekers. A trip to principal places in the city cost two hours and each passenger pays $1. There were 35 persons in this car. The chauffeur (Chafer) managed the car and the official guide explained the buildings, parks, public utilities, history of town, etc. He said the population is now about 22,000, and the town is growing rapidly. In May, 1901, the population was 28,000, of whom 11,000 were colored people.

A great fire swept the business and large part of the residence sections, destroying 2,000 buildings on 554 acres. That fire, like most great fires, has resulted in a much better town. The fire exists largely in memory.

The city is supplied with an inexhaustible supply of water, flowing from nine artesian wells in the city. The writer saw two of these wells at the water works. One of them yields 21 million gallons daily. This water is obtained at a depth of 900 to 1,000 feet. At least one well is 14 inches in diameter. This water is pure and is a strong sulphur, the fumes of which fill the air, and which discolored a coin held by our guide.

The city owns its water and electric light plant. The machinery is extensive and up-to-date. Committees from other cities contemplating ownership of public utilities frequently inspect the plant to know "how it is done." Our guide gave us to understand that this has been accomplished by "keeping the business out of politics and by using common sense." Business men have managed it for the city's good and protection, and not for their own private gain; in other words they did not take up the work for the purpose of stealing. Public office and stealing are not synonymous.

Many wealthy men live here. Wholesale lumber and naval supplies were especially mentioned. The reader will remember that the city is on the St. John's river, navigable for large boats.

The guide says that some fruits and vegetables yield more than 1 crop a year. The third crop is very profitable, composed of

It's a fact that you can get away with money without limit, using the city by automobile (large or small) or carriage; stores with all kinds of curios, trinkets, wares, cards, etc., are on every hand. Here we saw people in summer attire around hotels and sitting in parks. We thought of Mt. Sterling.

All aboard for St. Augustine, 37 miles south. Here we take the Florida East Coast Railway, owned by Henry M. Flagler, of Standard Oil and other fame. No concessions are made in rates on the road extending through Florida on east coast. If the reader expects to find this road lined with orange orchards, flower gardens, elegant homes, etc., he will be disappointed. The pine forests or turpentine orchards show some degree of care. You seldom see fields or pastures with dwelling lines. It's open and keeps on going. This condition prevailed into St. Augustine. The lights of the city were burning when we arrived. A few words about

ST. AUGUSTINE.

We will not attempt to rehearse the ancient history of this ancient town. We are rusty on history and might reveal ignorance and cause people to think we were not worth the school children might laugh at us. We don't know how many hotels are here. We didn't ask. We entered only two, the Alcazar and Ponce de Leon, owned by Mr. Flagler. Father and I stopped at the Alcazar, expecting to find our Green, Jr., and Mrs. Holley, but they had stopped at the other, so our time was spent at these hotels. Permit me to speak plainly when I say: A man would be silly who would endeavor to describe these buildings, their furnishings, apartments, courtyards, courts with tropical foliage, flowers, art galleries, orchestras, dining halls, elegantly dressed and uniformed retinue of bell boys, porters, head waiters, waiters, spacious and beautifully decorated dining halls, etc., etc., betokening the lavish bestowment of millions. The cheapest room in the Alcazar is $4 per day, in the Ponce de Leon, $5. We had for years heard of Flagler's hotels and we had been 40 years getting to this city, so we determined to see the finest.

Oh! my countrymen, what style, what glitter, what pomp, what music, what beauty; see the sparkle of diamonds, hundreds of women in evening dress, ablaze with jewels and summer attire; men in white suits, white trousers, straw hats. We had left our summer keds at home, but that did not keep us from enjoying the surroundings.

The writer can't help seeing some things, especially when the sight is before his eyes and sometimes he catches the humorous side of things. He entered the dining room of the Alcazar where were hundreds of guests at breakfast. At the same table and immediately opposite him sat a woman, her husband being at her left and at end of table. She was arranged in silks, laces, diamonds, etc. On the third finger on left hand were two rings, one had three large diamonds, the other two, an emerald (all apparently of the first water; she frequently put her hand to her face; on the third finger of right hand were two rings with three and two large diamonds; her car rings were large diamonds, her watch (pinned at her breast) had a case and clasp set in diamonds, a gold bracelet on her right arm exposed to the elbow and had three diamonds. I did not ask why she wore only one bracelet, but presume that is the story; the voice and manner were in keeping with these settings. Everything went well for a while. A glass of soft boiled eggs, already mixed, was before her. By some simple twist of the wrist, or jeweled fingers she opened the glass and the eggs spilled on the snow white table linen. Of course she was surprised, but attributed the mishap to the fact that she was "nervous." Did you ever hear of people being nervous? We saw the "funny side" of the whole affair. Now, ladies, be careful with egg glasses.

The Ponce de Leon is said to be the greatest in the world. The music ceased, the pageant dissolved; through an open window on the court came the rippling of waters from the fountains amidst tropical plants. The writer was in dreamland awaiting the Lord's day with its privilege and blessing. Before breakfast we were out to get a glimpse of surroundings by light of day. This was our first morning in Florida. We did not know whether Sunday laws were observed here. Meeting a colored boy about 15 years old, we asked if a man could get a drink this morning. He understood, and said yes, but you will have to go in the back door. We said: Are there saloons here, and do they keep open on Sunday? "Over there is one, but go in at the back and you can get what you want." In the same block we met a man who confirmed what the boy had said. Low un-enforced, even by officers who have even to execute the laws? Such is the way of sin. We returned to hotel to inquire concerning the churches. The clerk could not give desired information, so we went on the street, approached two men, and remarked that being a stranger we had walked out to—before we could finish—make inquiry about churches, one of them said: "To get a cocktail?" We then explained that we wished information about church services. "Are saloons open here on Sunday?" we asked. "Everything is open," said he; "you can get anything you want." That's true. We usually find what we look for. We passed on. There being no Christian church in the city, we attended the Methodist Sunday School and sat with the men's and women's Bible class. We were at the Flagler Memorial Presbyterian Church in the morning with father, brother and sister. Here we will say that Mr. Flagler built this fine church in memory of his first wife and daughter who were killed by an accident; that his second wife is now in an asylum. Soon after a special act of Florida legislature permitted him to be divorced from her he married a third wife, with whom he now lives here at Palm Beach.

On Sunday afternoon the writer, father and brother strolled down the bay to the old Spanish fort, examined it, and enjoyed the water view. In the distance across the har we could see the white waves from the ocean. Returning to hotel we rested and enjoyed fountain, foliage, flower until thousands of electric lights added new charm to the scene.

Father and I took sleeper at 9:30 p. m. for West Palm Beach, 272 miles south, and arrived at 6:30 on Monday morning. Here we joined my wife and Mrs. Cassidy. Monday was spent seeing The Royal Poinciana and The Breakers (Mr. Flagler's hotels at Palm Beach), their flower gardens, lawns, the ocean, swimming pool, bathers, etc. These and other hotels and several residences of millionaires are across Lake Worth from West Palm Beach on an island several miles long and about 2 of a mile wide at the hotels. The Royal Poinciana faces on the lake, the Breakers on the Atlantic. For 5 cents a ferry carries passengers from West Palm Beach to Palm Beach, about a half mile.

The Royal Poinciana is said to be the largest hotel in the world. We are unable to adequately describe the attractive building, its acres of flower gardens in full bloom, its hundreds of palm trees, some as high as the fifth and sixth floor of hotel; its great variety of tropical shrubs, clematis 20 to 30 feet high in full bloom, fountains, extensive colonnade, verandas, etc. This hotel is exterior, white and yellow; interior, white. There are 1150 guest chambers, to say nothing of parlors, dining rooms, public and private, offices, stores, bath rooms, etc., etc. The head waiter told me that 1600 guests can, without crowding, be easily served at the same time in the dining room, and that even more could be looked after. We heard the clerk tell a lady, who was speaking of the room she had, that when she came there were then in the hotel 1600 guests. No room in this hotel or the Breakers comes cheaper than $5 per day. We were at this hotel today (Thursday). From the entrance door (leading from the railway station) to the office the distance is 223 yards or steps by my stepping. Along this way are reception rooms, guest rooms, elevators, writing rooms, and stores where can be found as fine jewelry, millinery, fancy dresses, furnishings, etc., as can be had in most cities. The office is also used as a reception room or parlor and is a labyrinth of columns, palms, tropical shrubs, wicker chairs, wreaths, etc. Here lunch concerts are held twice a day. The 4 o'clock concert is held in the lawn under the lofty coconut tree.

Every passenger train on the Florida East Coast Railway (only railroad on the Atlantic Florida coast) crossed Lake Worth to these hotels, then returns to main land and proceeds north or south. I have viewed this hotel by day and by night, from both sides of Lake, and the moon lends its charm and its thousands of electric lights have made it a thing of beauty. I have silently watched the great assembly of guests in full summer attire and such elegant, rare, costly, and jewels as might be expected at a resort of this kind; I have heard the song of many birds, have feasted the eye on the rare tropical fruits, flowers of many kinds, have strolled under the palm trees of different varieties, have been refreshed by the breezes from Lake and Ocean. All this has richly repaid for my coming. This is glorious spring or summer time. I read of snow storms, sleet, cold winds, winter at this time in my old Kentucky home and I wish that such pleasure, rest and enlightenment as are mine could be shared with readers of the Advocate—for whom I have sufficient interest to devote enough time to convey some conception of what is here—within less than 900 miles of Mt. Sterling.

My readers may ask: Is it real summer time there? People here speak of summer as the time when many houses are closed, when business is dull and the tourists are gone.

Yes, barefooted children, women in lightest colors, men in summer garbs are on every hand. How do people travel on the island? Not a horse or carriage is seen. Everything is bicycle, automobile, bicycle-chair, single or double. These bicycle-chairs are operated by colored men who charge 75c per hour for a single and $1.50 per hour for a double. These go fast or slow according to weight and speed desired.

A car line leading from Poinciana to the Breakers is operated by a single mule. Not an omnibus or hack is seen on the island.

BATHERS. The Breakers is on the Atlantic. Surf bathing is very popular. Isn't it queer how conceptions of modesty change? Here men with bare arms, breasts and legs walk around on the beach, wallow in the sand, stand and talk with the most elegantly dressed ladies and go bathing with them. The women bathers are better protected, in fact appear more modest on the beach than they are in the hall room or in the parlors. The writer has been on the beach only once but did not take a plunge. The swimming pool at the Casino is a favorite resort for people of all sizes and both sexes. High diving is practiced. We saw men and women dive from the banister and floor of the second story of the building.

Fishing from the piers or boats is a fine sport. In West Palm Beach many men, women and children, white and black, go flying by on bicycles. The passing of touring automobiles is frequent and many bicycle chairs are used. Elegant ladies, bachelors and bachelorettes, go speeding by. Negro boys and girls, cooks and laborers use bicycles.

Things move here. Have not had time to inquire of many things we would like to write about.

These lines are written on Thursday afternoon, February 28. Have not caught up, but more will follow. O! You ought to see Florida.

The Royal Poinciana is said to be the largest hotel in the world. We are unable to adequately describe the attractive building, its acres of flower gardens in full bloom, its hundreds of palm trees, some as high as the fifth and sixth floor of hotel; its great variety of tropical shrubs, oleanders 20 to 30 feet high in full bloom, fountains, extensive colonnade, verandas, etc. This hotel is exterior, white and yellow; interior, white. There are 1500 guest chambers, to say nothing of parlors, dining rooms, public and private, offices, stores, bath rooms, etc., etc. The head waiter told me that 1600 guests can, without crowding, be easily served at the same time in the dining room, and that even more could be looked after. We heard the clerk tell a lady, who was speaking of the room she had, that when she came there were then in the hotel 1600 guests.

No room in this hotel or the Breakers comes cheaper than $5 per day. We were at this hotel today (Thursday). From the entrance door leading from the railway station to the office the distance is 223 yards or steps by my stepping. Along this way are reception rooms, guest rooms, elevators, writing rooms, and stores where can be found as fine jewelry, millinery, fancy dresses, furnishings, etc., as can be had in most cities. The office is also used as a reception room or parlor and is a labyrinth of columns, palms, tropical shrubs, wicker chairs, wreaths, etc. Here band concerts are held twice a day. The 4 o'clock concert is held in the lawn under the lofty coconut tree.

Every passenger train on the Florida East Coast Railway (only railroad on the Atlantic Florida coast) crossed Lake Worth to these hotels, then returns to main land and proceeds north or south. I have viewed this hotel by day and by night, from both sides of Lake, and the moon lends its charm and as thousands of electric lights have made it a thing of beauty, I have silently watched the great assembly of guests in full summer attire and such elegant, rare, costly raiment and jewels as might be expected at a resort of this kind. I have heard the song of many birds, have feasted the eye on the rare tropical fruits, flowers of many kinds, have strolled under the palm trees of different varieties have been refreshed by the breezes from Lake and Ocean. All this has richly repaid for my coming. This is glorious spring or summer time. I read of snow storm, sleet, cold winds, winter at this time in my old Kentucky home and I wish that such pleasure, rest and enchantment as are mine could be shared with readers of the Advocate—for whom I have sufficient interest to devote enough time to convey some conception of what is here—within less than 900 miles of Mt. Sterling.

My readers may ask: Is it real summer time there? People here speak of summer as the time when many houses are closed, when business is dull and the tourists are gone.

Yes, barefooted children, women in lightest colors, men in summer garbs are on every hand.

How do people travel on the island? Not a horse or carriage is seen. Everything is bicycle, automobile, bicycle-chair, single or double. These bicycle-chairs are operated by colored men who charge 75c per hour for a single and $1.50 per hour for a double. These go fast or slow according to weight and speed desired.

A car line leading from Ponce de Leon to the Breakers is operated by a single mule. Not an omnibus or hack is seen on the island.

BATHERS.

The Breakers is on the Atlantic. Surf bathing is very popular. Isn't it queer how conceptions of modesty change? Here men with bare arms, breasts and legs walk around on the beach, wallow in the sand, stand and talk with the most elegantly dressed ladies and go bathing with them. The women bathers are better protected, in fact appear more modest on the beach than they are in the ball room or in the parlors. The writer has been on the beach only once but did not take a plunge. The swimming pool at the Casino is a favorite resort for people of all sizes and both sexes. High diving is practiced. We saw men and women dive from the banister and floor of the second story of the building.

Fishing from the piers or boats is a fine sport. In West Palm Beach many men, women and children, white and black, go flying by on bicycles. The passing of touring automobiles is frequent and many bicycle chairs are used. Elegant ladies, bareheaded and bareheaded, go speedily by. Negro boys and girls, cooks and laborers use bicycles.

Things move here. Have not had time to inquire of many things we would like to write about.

These lines are written on Thursday afternoon, February 28. Have not caught up, but more will follow. O! You ought to see Florida!

DEATHS.

GOODPASTER.—Of consumption on March 1st at his home in Ovington, Dean Carlos Goodpaster, aged 51 years. He leaves a young wife. Deceased was son of Frank Goodpaster.

MARK.—Mrs. Hannah Belle Mark, who died at the home of her step-daughter, Mrs. Geo. M. Roberts, the last Sunday in February, at the ripe old age of four score and three years, was a remarkable woman, of strong character, great mental powers, who left her impress for good on those she associated with.

THOMPSON.—On Wednesday evening, Feb. 27th, 1907, Mr. John C. Thompson departed this life after a long spell of sickness, aged 54 years. For more than 25 years he had been associated with the dry goods firm of Hazeltine & Sons and their predecessors as chief salesman. He was highly appreciated as such, being the most popular salesman in this busy city. He was married—years ago to Miss Pattie Stephens, of Shelby County, who with one child, a daughter, mother, brother, C. G. Thompson, sister, Mrs. G. E. Coleman, survive him. For many years he had been a consistent working member of the M. E. Church, South. He was a man that could always be counted on, was a devoted character and could always be counted on to do his part for whatever of good that appealed to the conscience of the pure man. His funeral service took place from his late home, conducted by his pastor, Rev. H. G. Turner, assisted by Revs. J. B. Meachum and H. D. Clark, and burial took place in Maplewood cemetery. Thus ends the consoling life of one of Mr. Thompson's most active business men. As a husband and father, son, friend and citizen he will be greatly missed. Peace to his ashes, and comfort be to his loved ones.

Hat-forming Medicines.

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing public attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some clear-sighted people, in New York, took time by the forelock, as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. This has completely forestalled all harmful criticism and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now or known composition. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any ingredients of injurious acids, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of which recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in distillate cases of diseases, becomes habitually tolerable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulation, Dr. Pierce's pills contain chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, softener and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seed, the same root, Black Cherry bark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," which has cured chest and lung affections attended with acute coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Dr. George C. of New York, the author of "The Golden Medical Discovery," Philadelphia, Scudder's, Cincinnati, Zouner's, of Chicago, Hale of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are very few ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of all other catarrhs in all its various forms wherever located.

Presidents' Sons.

A periodical, called the Ohio Magazine, has been looking up the histories and careers of the sons of our Presidents and its review is interesting. Only twenty-one, it says, concerning whom there are available records, have grown to manhood.

Two—Jefferson and Monroe—left daughters only. President Johnson had two sons, but both died before he was President, and so do not count.

The sons of thirteen Presidents—John Adams, John Quincy Adams, Van Buren, William Henry Harrison, Tyler, Taylor, Fillmore, Lincoln, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur and Benjamin Harrison—have lived to man's estate. The sons of Cleveland and Roosevelt are still boys.

Of the twenty-one Presidents' sons who have reached manhood, nine have battled large in the public eye on their own account, and all but one or two have been solid, substantial citizens.

The prominent nine are John Quincy Adams, President, diplomatist, and Representative Charles Francis Adams, publicist and statesman; Robert Tyler, register of the Treasury, Richard Taylor, who served with distinguished gallantry on the Confederate side of the civil war; John Van Buren, prominent in State politics and just entering national politics when he died; Robert Todd Lincoln, cabinet minister, diplomatist and president of a world-famous corporation; Frederick Dent Grant, diplomatist and general in the army; Henry A. Garfield, lawyer, banker and professor of politics in a great university, and James H. Garfield, State Senator and United States Civil Service Commissioner of corporations, in the department of commerce and labor, now in the cabinet.

Besides the nine who have climbed so high, there is John Scott Harrison, who had the unique distinction of being the son of one President and the father of another. He was a man of force and of great influence in his own State, though he was not a prominent figure in a national sense. Counting him in, and he surely "made good," as the saying is, ten, or only one less than half the Presidents' sons who have reached manhood, are entitled to be named on the roll of honor.

Practically all of the Presidents' sons who have grown to man's estate have been good citizens; their lives have been clean, wholesome and a credit alike to their parentage and their country, while ten of the twenty have won unusual distinction. It would be hard to find any other class of prominent Americans whose sons have done as well as those of the Presidents.

About the Rich.

The rods of rancid rot daily printed in the big daily papers about the vulgar rich, their comings and goings, their many sayings and doings, what they drink, and how much of it, what they wear, and how, when, and where they wear it, minute writings, pictorial illustrations of every day worn by brainless women, a full description of every garment including the embroidered and hemstitched clothes—all their fulsome nauseous stuff, drowled out daily in the big papers—the column, and by the whole page—a sort of gross pandering to riches—a servile worship of snobocracy, a putting of the fore-head to the ground when the money maddens passes down the street, does more to stir up the devil in a man than all else combined. This sort of man-worship may go all right in countries where one man is acknowledged to be better than another, but it will never go in the "land of the free, and the homes of the brave," and the sooner the big papers let up on this daily flouting of money in the faces of the poor, the quicker all sort of devilishness will cease to be a menace to our government.—Ex.

Blow At Vested Rights.

"Why did you dismiss that employee?" asked one railway official. "He became annoying," answered the other; "he insisted on trying to figure out how much we could save by economizing on wreckages instead of on the payroll of signal operators."

The twelve-year-old son of John Lykins, a prominent farmer, living about three miles from Chumpton, Monday morning was playing around a fire on the gas line to that place. Prohibition in Tennessee.

We ain't a keering much about the Pendleton and Adams laws, 'cause we have got used to that sort of thing, and we have found a hair restorer that is about nintenths booze. But when the legislature undertakes to abolish the jug trade, it is time for us to raise our lungs in protest. We have a number of kind friends in Nashville and Memphis who keep us tolerably well supplied with jugs; but if this here infernal law goes into effect we will have to send to Kentucky for our lick. We air afraid to drink too much of that hair restorer, because it raises whiskers in our stomach and promotes a growth of hair inside our esophaguses. —Hardenan Free Press

With the meat and vegetables and other material was one ten biscuit.

Looking with what he considered great roguishness at the waitress, he said:

"Say, sister, do you know that that one biscuit looks to me as if it were awfully lonesome in here all by itself?"

"Very well," replied the girl without the twitch of a facial muscle, "I will take it back into the kitchen with the others, then."

It Takes Nerve

Everything depends upon your nerves. It is nerve force that causes the brain to direct the motion of your body; it is nerve force that causes your heart to pulsate, and send the blood through your veins; it is nerve force that causes your stomach to digest food, your kidneys to filter the blood, and the liver to secrete bile.

In fact, nerve force is the power that runs your body, so if you feel worn-out, irritable, nervous, cannot sleep, or eat well, have pain or misery anywhere, your nerves are weak, and your system run-down. To restore this vitality take Dr. Miles' Nerve which will strengthen and build up the nerves. You cannot be healthy without strong nerves.

For eighteen years Dr. Miles' Nerve and Anti-Pain Pills have been my close companions. Early in married life, as this raising children, my nerves became all worn-out—could not sleep, had no appetite, digestion very bad, and had such awful dizzy spells. Then I began using Dr. Miles' Nerve, and at once I began to improve, and soon found myself in perfect health.

For Nervous, Over-worked and "Run Down" Women

Women in an exhausted, nervous state, due to over-work, continuous social functions or a general "run down" condition of health, often wonder why tonics and emulsions fail to benefit them. The reason is plain. Tonics and emulsions are good in their place, but they cannot build up the body until the nerves have been toned and quieted.

There's only one remedy that can restore health to women in this exhausted, nervous condition, because it acts directly upon the nerves.

Rexall

Americanitis Elixir

Is the only remedy of its kind in existence. As its name implies, it's a specific for the peculiar exhausted nervous conditions resulting from the continuous rush and tension under which Americans live. This remedy fills an important gap in the line of medicines.

Rexall Americanitis supplies to the body just those elements which Nature cannot supply in sufficient quantities to meet the unnatural drain upon the nervous system.

Phosphorus in soluble form is the basis of this splendid nerve food. Thousands of women have been saved from nervous prostration by the prompt use of Rexall Americanitis. To all conditions of nervous derangement, exhaustion and debility it brings permanent relief.

The Story of

Rexall

Rexall means REX means "king," and the combination makes Rexall "king of all."

We have proven time and time again that Rexall Remedies are king above all others. For more than two years an expert traveled all over the world in search of extraordinary remedies. Wherever he heard of a wonderful cure of any nature he did not rest until he personally could see the effect of the prescription used. Where he found the remedy perfect he purchased the prescription, but he never used as Rexall until he had the properties had been thoroughly analyzed by the chemists and physicians of the United Drug Company.
